Market Report by Paul Need

Market conditions are a little unstable at present with butter and cheese prices down slightly, this is due to the demand from retailers being low. It is a very difficult time to predict where prices are going to go and the weather could have a significant part to play yet. I believe prices may drop a little more in March and stabilise again in April, milk price to the farmer has levelled out, but will it be enough to encourage them to produce "that is the question".

We will be keeping a close eye on the market going forward and secure the best prices, let's see where this year takes us. Next month I will have a more detailed overview of the market but please do not hesitate to contact me or the team if you require any further information.

St. Lukes Hospice Charity Day

We had a visit from St Lukes 'Big Red Bus' this Valentines Day in order to raise money & donations for the charity. Everyone bought in their 'Bag of love' and we had a collection throughout the offices.

It was great fun raising money for such a good cause.
